(54) Title: VEHICLE ARRESTER SYSTEMS

(57) Abstract: Devices for arresting a wheeled vehicle with rubber tires, comprising elongated flexible member such as strips, mats, cables or chains disposed along the direction of motion and adapted to wrap around the tires using a tire attaching means such as barb, spike or adhesive, the tire attaching means being fixed to the proximal end of the flexible member with respect to the vehicle's motion, and an arresting means such as a rod attached to the distal end of the flexible member and adapted to interfere with the vehicle motion. The spikes may be anchoring in the tire and the cable or chain may be strong enough to tear the tires. The devices may be disposed in a flat housing with movable cover for allowing free passage of the vehicle
